Official Weights Are Lost

Put Away for Safe Keeping Cannot Now Be Found

Last—The standards of Canadian commerce.

Somewhere in Ottawa, probably in some obscure corner of a dusty vault is a great iron bound chest which it would take six men to lift, containing the official weights and measures of Canada. With elaborate ceremony the standards received from England in 1871 were given in custody of the common back in the seventies and placed in "safe keeping." They apparently were well hidden for today Mounted Police, secret agents of the government and House of Commons protective service officers are searching so far without result for the valuable weights.

Is Universally Known

Prince of Wales Attracts More Attention Than Any Other Person

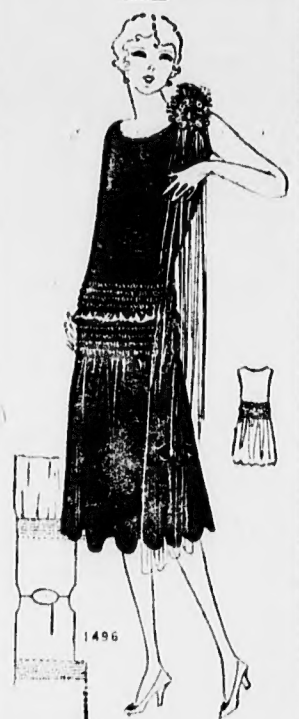

"He is talked of in places where the great war was never more than a vague rumor. On the N.W. frontier of India I have seen the eyes of a wild Afghan gleam with interest at the mention of his name. A group of naked Bantoe hunters around a camp fire in the basin of the Zambezi invited me to applaud a legend of his hunting prowess. I saw his photograph hanging in the mud hut of a Dinka chief in the Soudan. I could have bought picture postcards of him in most of the bazaars of Egypt. I once heard some river Arabs discussing him fantastically on a Tigris malhalla. . . . At a dinner party in a villa on the Bosphorus I asked by Turkish host to interpret the subject of an eager wrangle that was in progress at one end of the table. . . . The extract quoted is from the first chapter of "H. R. H. A Character Study of the Prince of Wales," by Major F. E. Vennay, M.C. The writer records similar experiences in Vienna, Paris and the United States, which, though less remarkable, support his statement that the prince attracts more universal interest than any living person.

Tramp Steamers Disappearing

Are Being Gradually Replaced by Scheduled Ocean Liners

Tramp steamers, picturesque wanderers of the sea, are gradually giving way to ocean liners operating on specific routes on regular schedules. Before the war, the Commerce Department announced, there were 42 tramps to every 58 liners operating by corporations, and the competition of these unregulated vessels greatly affected the ocean freight rates of the world. Today there are only 27 tramp steamers to every 73 liners, and the old-time ship, free to come and go as cargo offered, will soon completely disappear from the seas.

Shirring Is Modish This Season

This charming frock would be very effective if fashioned of crepe satin or velvet. The two-piece skirt is shirred to the bodice in an attractive manner, thereby achieving a soft self-trimming. Tulle is fastened at the left side of the round neck and falls gracefully to the hem. Long sleeves may be added and would make this a very smart afternoon frock. No. 1496 is for misses and small women and is in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 18 (36 bust) requires 3 1/2 yards 39-inch material, or 2 1/2 yards 54-inch, and 3/4 yard 36-inch lining; 3/4 yard tulle. Price 20 cents the pattern.

Home sewing brings nice clothes within the reach of all, and to follow the mode is delightful when it can be done so easily and economically by following the styles pictured in our new Fashion Book. A chart accompanying each pattern shows the material as it appears when cut out. Every detail is explained so that the inexperienced sewer can make without difficulty an attractive dress. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

Is Now Important Industry

Cost of Raising Reindeer in Alaska Is Very Low

More than 250,000 reindeer distributed in 119 herds, are now being kept in Alaska, according to statistics and thirty-three and forty-five per cent, thirty-three and forty-five per cent, annually. Within recent years, the raising of the animals has become an important industry. They are known as "three-way" producers, useful for food, clothing and for transportation, and in some sections, are supplanting the dog teams for hauling. The cost of producing averages only about $1 a year for each reindeer, while prices of $10 to $12 are realized in the butcher markets. Between 1918 and 1925 nearly 2,000,000 pounds of reindeer meat was exported from Alaska. The government is endeavoring to improve methods of control and management of herds and the grazing facilities. It is said that the country can afford pasturage for at least 3,000,000 animals.

SICK CHILDREN LOVE "CASCARETS" FOR THE BOWELS

Give "Candy Cathartic" for a bad cold, sour stomach, constipation

Get a ten-cent box now. Most of the ills of childhood are caused by a sour, disordered stomach, sluggish liver and constipated bowels. They catch cold easily, become cross, listless, irritable, feverish, restless, tongue coated, don't eat or sleep well and need a gentle cleansing of the bowels—but don't try to force a nauseating dose of oil into the little one's already sick stomach—it is cruel, needless and old-fashioned. Any child will gladly take Cascarets Candy Cathartic which act gently—never gripe or produce the slightest uneasiness—though they cleanse the little one's system, sweeten the stomach and put the liver and bowels in a pure, healthy condition.

Full directions for children and grown-ups in each package.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this gentle, thorough laxative which costs only 10 cents a box at any drug store.

Agriculture in B.C.

Farming Population Has Doubled Within Ten Years

There are 22,000 farmers in British Columbia and a total farm population of 90,000, according to the Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Lands. He pointed out that the farm population has doubled in ten years and that within this time dairy products had risen from $3,000,000 to $10,000,000 in value. Total farm production rose during the ten-year period of 1915 to 1925 from $31,000,000 to $67,000,000.

Canada's Urbanization

(By C. W. Peterson)

The suspicion rankles in the minds of thinking people that insufficient attention is devoted in Canada to the problems of our countryside compared with that devoted to our urban centres. At any rate, the rapidly with which Canada is building up her towns and cities may well give cause for serious thought. Between the census year 1891 and that of 1921, Canada's rural population increased by a little over one million, while her urban population increased by a little under three millions. During that period there was an enormous increase in urban population in every province, while there was an actual decrease in rural population in five provinces with Ontario barely holding her own. In 1891, 69 per cent. of our population was engaged in agriculture. In 1921, only 50 per cent. worked the land. Each census period sees the proportion of agricultural population diminishing at an astonishing rate. This must be regarded as a disastrous development in an overwhelmingly agricultural country such as Canada undoubtedly is.

Plausible explanations of this phenomenon are offered. The favored one is that the increased mechanization of agriculture is displacing workers on the land. But that argument won't hold water. Mechanization has been even more startling in urban industry than in agriculture, which might not unnaturally be supposed to release an even greater number of workers for the farm. There are, however, adequate reasons for this onrush development. The simple story is that life in the town is less laborious, is better paid, is more interesting and amusing, gives more leisure hours, admits of greater personal comfort and agreeable social contacts. In short, in spite of all the "high falutin'" theories about the occupation "fed by the bounty of earth and sweetened by the airs of heaven," the farm, being generations behind the town in conditions of life, can no longer compete with it. That is all there is to this apparent social mystery.

The greater marvel is undoubtedly the ability of the urban community to absorb this army of new workers. Agricultural over-production is conceivable because there is a limit to food consumption. Industrial over-production is more difficult to visualize, as there is, theoretically, no limit to the demand for manufactured articles except the incidence of purchasing power. With the increase in urban populations and the centering of economic life in the factory, the office, the store and the bank, public opinion naturally becomes urbanized and concentrated more and more upon problems of industry, trade and finance. With the development of new forms of industrial, financial and commercial organization, the chief concern of the productive population and of government has gradually been monopolized by these issues.

The mind of Canadians has, to an increasing degree, been occupied with the problems of creating the comparatively vast industrial society that has developed in this country. Our land resources have vaguely impressed public imagination as being to all practical purposes almost inexhaustible, so that we have given little thought to the problem of their utilization. The agricultural consciousness of the people at large has, in fact, become less intense. Canada must, in the future, concentrate her attention on rural colonization. With a sound and increased agricultural production, as a foundation, our urban development will easily take care of itself.

Equal Rights for Women

Urge Franchise be Granted to Women 21 Years of Age in Britain

Premier Baldwin is receiving a petition from members of all parties in the British house of commons, which urges that the franchise be granted to women 21 years of age or over. The government has already promised to give women equal privileges with men, but it is believed that the government may consider that the proper way to proceed is to set the qualification age of both sexes at 25. Women of 30 years of age, subject to certain limitations, are already allowed to vote. Men, of course, can vote at 21 years of age.

Many English people caused their friends some thought and uncertainty by sending them a Christmas card in the form of a cross word puzzle, which, when solved reveals the identity of the sender.

Want Bay Road Completed

Question is Discussed at Some Length in Saskatchewan Legislature

In a debate featured by a complete absence of party politics, members of the Saskatchewan legislature unanimously adopted a resolution urging that "construction of the Hudson Bay railway should be carried on without interruption, so that the line may be completed to Nelson and work commenced on the port terminal during 1927."

O. D. Hill, Liberal, Melfort, sponsored the resolution. "It would be futile to build the railway to the bay without providing facilities there to make it an overseas route," he said. "The Henry report presented to the house of commons by Mr. Dunning estimated that 10,000,000 bushels of grain would have to be handled to cover operating and maintenance expenses, and provide interest of three per cent. on the investment of $29,000,000. Production in the Carrot River valley would be sufficient to cover this estimated requirement."

Rev. Thomas McAfee, Liberal, Wolsely, seconded the resolution, and said the construction of the railway was a national enterprise.

Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, Conservative, Saskatoon, said Nelson had been reported on favorably by engineers, and he did not think the British engineer, Frederick Palmer, now coming out, was to make a selection between Nelson and Churchill.

Premier Gardiner said there was greater reason for the resolution this session than appeared in the surface. He referred to eastern newspaper articles putting obstructions in the way of the road's construction.

M. A. MacPherson, Conservative, Regina, and Dr. R. Shippey, Progressive, Hanley, concurred, the latter saying he hoped the slogan next year would be "On to Europe!" instead of "On to the Bay!"

Seals Destroy Salmon

Traders in North Pacific Facing Difficult Problem

Which is the more valuable—the fur seal or the salmon? Which is the more easily dispensed with by humanity? Which one, if threatened with depletion, should be allowed to go?

This is the problem which has arisen in the North Pacific as a result of the claims of fur traders that fur seals are decimating the salmon, most important of all food fishes in this part of the world.

Since the enforcement of the pelagic sealing treaty in 1911, sealing has been restricted, except in the case of Alaska, where the slaughter is under the close supervision of the United States government. It is estimated that this protection has permitted the herds to increase to 2,000,000 head of seal.

"It is a conservative estimate that each seal kills twenty-five pounds of salmon every day," said one veteran trader. "That means that the Pribyl herds destroy 50,000,000 pounds of salmon daily—or ten times as much salmon as is canned for the whole world. Hundreds of thousands of dollars is spent yearly to propagate the salmon. Yet the seals are allowed to prey upon them to that extent. Salmon has become a necessary article of food. Seal skins are a luxury."

Which could go, the salmon or the seal?

Every Seventh Person Has Car

Remarkable Increase in B.C. Over All Previous Years

For every 7.5 people in British Columbia there is one automobile, according to statistics given out by the provincial government. This shows an increase of nearly 20 per cent. over the number of cars registered for 1925. There will be 80,000 automobiles in use in British Columbia this year, and officials would not be surprised if the number reached the 100,000 mark at the beginning of the 1928 season.

The current figures show a remarkable increase over those of all previous years. Last year there were 67,000 registered motor vehicles and ten years ago the number was only 8,596.

Approximately 105,000 persons are entitled to drive automobiles in the province, this number having registered and obtained licenses, which are compulsory.

Had to Advertise Telephone

Inventor Had to Distribute Hand Bills to Attract Crowd for First Exhibition

Less than fifty years ago, there were people who solemnly believed that speech could not be transmitted over the wire. And when Prof. Alexander Graham Bell was giving an exhibition, it was necessary to distribute handbills to attract the crowds, probably because Bannum was in his heyday at that time, and people were chary about being fooled.

In Lawrence, Mass., on May 28, 1877, the following printed bill was handed around:

"The miracle telephone! Wonderful discovery of the ages. Prof. A. Graham Bell, assisted by Mr. Frederick A. Gower, will give an exhibition of his wonderful and miraculous discovery, the telephone, before the people of Lawrence, when Boston and Lawrence will be connected via the Western Union Telegraph, and vocal and instrumental music and conversation will be transmitted a distance of twenty-seven miles, and received by the audience in city hall. Prof. Bell will give an explanatory lecture with his miraculous exhibition."

The first long distance communication was at Brantford, Ontario, and this is recorded in granite, in a very fine memorial in the Telephone City, and by documents, the veracity of which was attested by the inventor himself, before he died. Brantford naturally is proud of the invention, and with recent developments, speech by telephone across the Atlantic, there is still more reason to remember Professor Alexander Graham Bell. But in these modern days, a new invention would have to be something most extraordinary to attract a crowd of people who came to see and remained to doubt. The mere publication of an official announcement today of something new in science is generally believed. A little more than a hundred years ago Bell might have been burned at the stake.

Moving pictures were first presented at Foster & Bial's music hall in New York City, when Edison's vitascope was used to throw pictures on a screen.

Freeing Slaves in Burma

British Government Issues Order and Promises Compensation to Owners

The British Government has ordered the abolition of slavery in Burma. Sir Harcourt Butler, Governor of Burma, at a reception of the Kachin chiefs of the district known as the Triangle announced:

"Henceforth slaves must not be sold, given as part of dowries or in settlement of feuds; neither may families of slaves be broken up."

Immediate arrangements will be made for the release of slaves and compensation will be paid to the owners by the British Government.

It was estimated that 5,000 slaves will thus become free citizens.

Alberta Oil Production

Alberta's petroleum production will exceed 200,000 barrels for 1926, when all returns are in, according to Government estimates. This compares with 183,999 barrels in 1925. The production of Royalty No. 4 well, in Turner Valley, exceeded 190,000 barrels for the year up to November 30th, the average production being 528 barrels of naptha per day.

"Little Annie Rooney," the comedy drama of moment life in New York in which Mary Pickford stars, and which comes to The Gleichen Community Hall on February 12th, under the United Artists Corporation release, appears to have been written to order for "The Water Street Beat" for it is an ideal Mary Pickford story.

Combining comedy and drama, smiles and tears, children's gang battles and a pretty love story, "Little Annie Rooney" is the type of play in which the public loves to see Mary Pickford, and the type she can do as no other actress can.
"Little Annie Rooney" is as Irish as its name, and as Irish as the curls of the little ragamuffin who plays the young daughter of, or at least side policeman whose playmates are about thirty young boys, and who enters into the gang fights and rows of these tameless lads with all the vigor as her command.

Unexpected tragedy takes in the police's family, and the girl is suddenly faced with some of the grim realities of life that seldom come to a child of her age.

Through the film's little sequence
Miss Pickford romps gloriously, a leader of the dirty faced boys and the laid of her "gang" and the story.

In the dramatic scenes she does some of the finest and most convincing work of her whole career.
She is sweet and appealing as the sweetheart of her "Joe," and through entire picture, the story.

Mary Pickford is again revealed.
While of the type of many of her pictures, "Little Annie Rooney" is a new and strong plot, a careful choice cast of supporting players and is photographically beautiful throughout.

In fact there is nothing to be declined that is provided in this, the first test vehicle of Miss Pickford.

It should prove her most popular screen play, according to those who have seen the picture in previews.

The annual meeting and banquet of the Gleichen Fire Brigade will be held on Wednesday night, Feb. 16th, when the Gleichen Women's Institute will serve the dinner.

Next Sunday evening, the pastor, the Rev. Geo. Webber, will continue the series of special sermons in "Some New Test. ment Types of Conversion," with a sermon on "The Conversion of a Backslider."

HOCKEY

Only three penalties were noted out-Gleichen got two and High River two.

The High River boys are a heavier set of men than the Gleichen boys and a lot of the Gleichen hockey fans predict that when High River goes to Medicine Hat next week to play the demonstrations a few more they will easily beat the Hot boys.

The first period. The puck was up and down the ice in an endless procession and both sides were unable to get anywhere near their opponents nets and both sides were unknown both sides resorted to long shots and both goals had no trouble in saving High River made one goal in about the middle of the period and the score was very fast.

The second period. High River again made a goal on a solo rush and while later Gleichen's star goal getter made a solo rush right from behind his own net clear through the shock High River team to within a short distance of the High River goal and scored. This period was a fought by end to end rushes by both teams. The game was fast and clean. Both teams had about 14-1 number of shots at the goals for the defense was too good, also the goalies.

Third period. Shortly after the start St. Mary's Gleichen's crack forward, discovered that the game was not in the stomach and collapsed on the ice. Dr. Wright got the crack down in the corner near the High River goal and tossed it over to the goal mouth when T. Johnston knocked it in. Again the game developed into a procession of end to rushes and long shots. In a little while High River scored the 1-1 center of the game. Tiger also got the wind knocked out of him in tripping over a High River player and was able to continue in a few moments.

Gleichen used her subs more frequently in this game than in any game this winter. The subs shown to better advantage and if this is kept up they should soon hit the proper stride.
